PShhh... I decided I wanted to make some more. So we ended our day kinda time we went to a members home to leave a message blessing and it was some great artwork The Odenwelder Family. Their little boy Kirk attacked us multiple time through out the visit with his giant stuffed alligator [hes 4 yrs old] And was super super. Plus he attacked on me...

But the conversation was awkward really didn't want to talk so it weird we would ask them questions at "How they met?" Tom knew. And then said "It's a long story" and say not How's that situation?

Oh yeah our night ended with us only talking to 2 sweet kids one accepted us well. Theater was non-commercial, but it us script people anyways so it was cool.

But we didn't do much. I feel like I wasted time, but what else could we do? Stop. Oh well tomorrow is a new day.

Well I'm tired & hope all is well.
Mom get better fast.

Love. Your cool kids

So I wanted to write about a few experiences in the past few weeks. So I will start Harvesting the field. So experience #1 The Sun We are out Harvesting and it's about 6pm and dark outside. We are @ a really nice trailer park of amazing people. We knock on the door and so we knock again. & again. When @ the front trailer a guy pokes his head out from the walk over to him and introduce ourselves "Hi Holder & this is Siser Milk." The man says, "

#4 Broke Down. One day Sis Mills are in a potential investigators home. We turn and we see a man pushing his Dodge to himself. So Sis Mills and I throw our bike start helping him push his truck. But shocked to see two girls in skirts help his truck. Another man came to help. We off the road. We offered to help him get

So you know how I'm a bad driver? Well, apparently I'm not the only one. Pres. Anderson has placed our cars a device named Teewee. It's a black box that records everything you do as a driver.
So I now have 2 backseat drivers - SIGH - Teewee has already yelled at me for speeding and for driving and even texts the assistance people So who then call the Zone leader who then to tell me I'm in trouble. But I've only had to
