

DEAR Family.

DEC 5 2011

So as you can tell from my Email life for me is very interesting.
I'm not sure if I'm getting more girls or what. But I have a hard time being around girls all the time.

Thank heavens for DODGE BALL

I will forever love this game.

It's interesting cause there are 8 of us. 5 girls and 3 boys.

The mission is riddled with trips at least 4 in there w/much going on that I haven't told you. I need you to ask

②

me questions so I know what to write, cause I don't have a one. I guess cause it's Christmas we get to go camping and stuff but it's just weird cause there is no snow. Rarely any cold weather. But there are tons of Christmas lights and lawn ornaments all over the place.
People get real Xmas trees out here. I believe they are imported. I guess I will just tell you about yesterday. It was full of the spirit. ↷

③

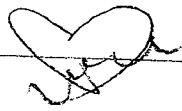

So we had Sarah come to church which was awesome thing #1. She loved it, all we had to give her a modest make over with hygiene tips. Then we had her come to a baptism. That the elders said it was so amazing and full of the spirit. It reminded me of my baptism for what ever reason I loved it. I also got to be apart of it and sing, I'm becoming quite the singer out here. 😊 It was the same feeling I had from my my,

④

That I remember I guess it was just so awesome. Then the Christmas Devotional just topped off the night. We watched it @ Cavans house on her computer
It was amazing the movies for Christ birth so awesome I nearly jumped out of my seat! I loved the focus on Jesus Christ I hope you all read the nativity and your decorations have some things to do with Christ Anyways.
Am loving life right now

Even with all the challenges and trips, it's the best life ever. Oh yeah I made a cake for Sis' Packer's BDay!
with Fondant and every thing. It was awesome.
I'll send pics.

Well I got to run
Love you all so much!

Sis →
Helen

PS. Playing Dodge
Ball I facialed myself
by having the ball hit my foot and bounce in my face. Love right?

